Sometime in February last Mr. Way came to this city and endeavored to sell a note endorsed by A. W. Coates, of Alliance, of about $100, at the City bank. Though at the bank they had no suspicion of anything wrong, for some reason they refused to purchase and he afterwards sold it at the Exchange bank. Mr. Coates learning by some means of the attempt to sell the note at the City bank, notified them that it was a forgery. Before the note was due Mr. Way visited the Exchange bank and lifted it, and the affair was quietly smoothed over. The Exchange bank held some more paper that they had received from Way, and finding out accidentally of the forgery, they immediately took measures to straighten up the matter and succeeded in securing about 60

Since this affair was exploded it turns out, that he had disposed of from $2,000 to $3,000 in notes, forged on Jehu Milner and Elisha Teeters, of Alliance, and John Correll, of this city, with both, Harter & Son and Geo. D. Harter. We understand that both these firms have succeeded in settling their accounts, securing 25 or 30 cents on the dollar, *

ncluded to play insane for a few days until he could determine upon a course of action, as the climate was getting too warm, and suddenly became a raving lunatic at his home in Alliance. He kept this up until last Sunday, when he endeavored to hire a horse and buggy at a livery stable, but for some reason he was refused. About 2 o'clock that night he tried a little strategy; sending a messenger to Z. B. Johnson's stable for a horse and buggy and instructing the messenger to state that it was for Dr. R. P. Johnson, who was obliged to visit a patient as soon as possible. The buggy was secured in this way and off he went, probably to some small station, at which he took the cars, and has not been heard of since. The messenger returned with the buggy the next day, but all that is left of our popular clergy nan (?) is visions of a tobacco stained shirt front and a gold headed cane. We understand that some notes of John Correll's have been sent down from Cleve-

He had given his coat with a pocket book containing $275 to a friend to keep lest an accident should occur. There was great sorrow over the affair at Alliance. It is supposed he must have lost his balance 4. All animals to entitle them to premium must be owned by residents of Stark county, ex solves in sweep-stakes or sweeps of. We understand that some notes of John Correll's have been sent down from Cleveland within the past week to ascertain their genuinness. They had been received from Way and of course are forgeries; therefore the extent of his operations are unknown.

Way was fond of his glass and is the man who was fined $10, the last term of Court, for not appearing as a witness in a whiskey case.

It is necessary to add, that Mr. Way has a very respectable family who are receiving the sympathies of a large circle of friends.

Draw Br. — On Sunday last, about noon Mr. O. W. Nash, boot and shoe dealer No. 3, Opera House, fell out of a boat an Congress lake and was drowned. The body was recovered on Monday morning after considerable labor. An expert diver from Alliance having failed to find the body, the bottom of the lake was dragged by hooks and the body was found in this way. It seems Nash, in company with several other young men, left for the lake early on Sunday morning to fash and spend the day. They procured two dug-outs to cross the lake, and had nearly reached the other of the lake, and had nearly reached the other of the lake, and had nearly reached the other of the lake companion who was in the front padding with a stick, looked
